

2001
“Damaris” Chardonnay
68% Sonoma County
32% Monterey County

Each vintage we select the best tasting barrels from our finest lots to craft the Damaris Reserve. The process is a lengthy one involving numerous blind tastings and rankings followed by weeks of trial blend tasting.

The 2001 Damaris is comprised of five unique vineyards, representing different clonal selections, vine ages and appellations. What characterizes each wine selected is its intensity of flavors and overall balance. Through artful blending, we achieve a wine that is greater than the sum of the parts. Each selected barrel is aged for twelve months sur lie and then gently racked before bottling with only a light isinglass fining to insure brilliance.

The 2001 Damaris is typical of the winery’s reserve style, an elegantly structured wine with great fruit expression and a rich and supple palate.
